MAID RIGHT TEAM?

Worth approximately $51 billion, the home cleaning industry is thriving and has independence from the volatility of the market, with a stable customer base in a variety of economic climates. But it's also extremely fractured, with little consistency between service providers. With the industry long dominated by mom-and-pop shops, commercial opportunities in the sector are largely untapped. And homeowners are eager to find a company that stands out, with a reputation for excellence they know they can rely on.

Maid Right fills that need.

Enter the market with an extensive set of tools at your disposal - putting you on the path to building a business.
